

When #&*$#@ happens all the time

71% of respondents told researchers that after brain injury, they had trouble getting along with people some or most of the time. Swearing, yelling and having a “short fuse” compromises communication. Saying what you think without a filter can get people in trouble with their friends, families and even the law.

With their expertise in communication and social behaviour, Speech Language Pathologists are essential rehabilitation team members.

*Speech Language Pathologists are
The Communication Experts*

